Horsemanship & Introduction to Cow Work

Andy Castro of Cutting Loose Ranch presents a clinic on horsemanship and cow work. Friday evening is an optional group meeting to discuss goals and expectations for the weekend. Saturday morning starts with ground and saddle work; the afternoon includes practice with a mechanical cow. Sunday will continue to advance the skills and techniques presented on Saturday.

Andy has a calm and compassionate manner with both horses and people. He's been training horses and riders for over twenty years, but is one of the nicest and most humble people you'll ever meet. We've been lucky enough to work with Andy for many years. Even if you're not interested in cow work, you won't want to miss this clinic!

Clinic is $300/rider, reservations are required. Limited to 10-12 riders.

LQ hook-ups available for $25/night. Auditing is $20/day.
